The Contractor is not authorized to act as an agent for Tooele County, except as expressly provided in this Contract. Persons employed by Tooele County and acting under direction of Tooele County shall not be deemed to be employees or agents of the Contractor. The Contractor is not required to obtain an "additional insured" endorsement for any automobile or Workers' Compensation insurance policy required by this Contract.

June 2017

b. Types of Liability Protection the Contractor Shall Provide:

(1) Private Contractor – Commercial Insurance Required: If the Contractor is not a governmental entity of the State of Utah, the Contractor shall maintain the following policies of liability insurance at its sole expense during the term of this Contract, unless the Contractor has already satisfied the requirements of the self-insurance provision below:

(a) General Liability Insurance: The Contractor shall maintain a policy of general liability insurance that at a minimum covers the following types of liability: bodily injury or death, personal injury, property damage, broad form property damage, and liability for the property of others in the care, custody and control of the Contractor. The policy shall provide for a combined single limit or the equivalent of not less than $1,000,000 for each occurrence and $3,000,000 aggregate. If the Contractor is providing services at more than one site, the general liability insurance must cover each of those sites. If the general liability insurance coverage obtained by the Contractor is written on a “claims-made” basis, the certificate of insurance shall so indicate, and the policy shall contain an extended reporting period provision or similar “tail” provision such that the policy covers claims reported up to five years beyond the date that this Contract is terminated.

This professional liability insurance shall cover damages caused by errors, omissions or negligence related to the professional services provided pursuant to this Contract. If the professional liability insurance coverage obtained by the Contractor is written on a “claims-made” basis, the certificate of insurance shall so indicate, and the policy shall contain an extended reporting period provision or similar “tail” provision such that the policy covers claims reported up to three years beyond the date that this Contract is terminated.

In the event the Contractor fails to notify Tooele County within this timeframe, the Contractor shall defend and indemnify Tooele County even if the claim arises out of the sole negligence of Tooele County. The participation by Tooele County in the defense of a claim does not relieve the Contractor of any obligation pursuant to this Contract. However, if Tooele County elects to retain independent counsel, Tooele County shall pay the attorney's fees and costs associated with such counsel except where Tooele County retains independent counsel due to a claim by the Contractor that the claim arises out of the sole negligence of Tooele County. PART II: SCOPE OF WORK AND SPECIAL CONDITIONS

SECTION A: BACKGROUND, PURPOSE, AND DEFINITIONS

1. BACKGROUND:

In the state of Utah, each year over 5,000 children are evaluated in Children's Justice Centers (CJCs). As defined by SAMHSA, pediatric traumatic stress in an "immediate reaction such as panic, helplessness, dissociation, and freezing; and intermediate and longer-term reactions, including symptoms, such as nightmares and other re-experiencing phenomena; diagnostic syndromes, such as post-traumatic stress disorder and panic disorder; and functional impairments, such as school difficulties and withdrawal from peer engagement." Even though over 60% of children receive or are referred to therapy by CJCs (NCA Statistics, 2015), there is currently no standard process for CJCs to effectively assess for and deliver evidence-based trauma specific services for the children they serve.

The University of Utah and Primary Children's Center for Safe and Healthy Families are collaborating on a project, funded by the National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN), titled Pediatric Integrated Post-Trauma Services. The purpose is to develop and pilot clinical processes and tools for CJCs to effectively detect, assess, and treat children exposed to traumatic events. The dissemination of this project has significant implications where over 300,000 children receive evaluations at children's justice and advocacy centers nationwide. The project goals include the development of an evidence-based care process model and decision support tools for children exposed to potentially traumatic events and implementation of the trauma assessment model as part of a comprehensive trauma treatment strategy that can be delivered within or coordinated by CJCs.

Frontline providers in CJCs are often the first contact with a child or teen who has suffered a traumatic experience, requiring expertise to detect, assess, and manage any and all of the kinds of cases. Implementation of a trauma informed process to effectively assess and treat pediatric trauma can provide stepwise guidance, decrease provider variation, enhance frontline provider interventions, and improve access and use of evidence-based practices.

2. PURPOSE:

The need exists to provide trauma focused treatment services for child abuse victims and their families and to offer oversight of the CJC implementation of the Pediatric Integrated Post – Trauma Services (PIPS).
